Many prophecies have gone on at some length to prepare us for some type of end game. From the ubiquitous flood narratives to supernovas, the doom society have always made a massive deal about end days and judgement. However gruesome the details are, there is usually some type of signalling before hand.

Social Engineering Government Military Industrial Complex Secret Societies Freemasonry Intelligence Society

In previous articles, the prophecy of the 'Return of the King' details how a long term goal of specific factions is emerging. The abbreviated version is that for an unspecified reason, world opinion shifts in regards to the state of Israel. The majority of the planet apparently condemn the Israeli government and a concerted effort to wipe the country out ensues.

Previously it was the opinion of the author that the atrocity preceding this quite deliberate genocide, was based on some form of weaponry being used in the Levant against the Palestinian population. While this still may well occur, it seems that the existing persecution of Palestinians has been egregious but never inspired other nations into genocidal activity.

In order for multiple UN member nations to unite against Israel, they would require some form of justification which has a global aspect. That which occurs in the Levant is no more considered a global threat than that which occurs in Gary, Indiana. However, at this time there does not seem to be a corrupt group of political infiltrators from the Chicago suburb of Gary waging a biological false flag campaign against the rest of the world. extremists aligned with Israel, the Likud Party, the military / medical industrial complexes and Freemasonry on the other hand, most certainly have been.

Information regarding the genetic compatibility between the SARS-COV-2 virus and the predominant Ashkenazi gene types has recently been showing up on social media. The mainstay of the argument is that spike proteins which lead to shedding and disease do not bond with the most common genes in the predominantly Talmudic sect of the Ashkenazi Jews. Obviously the co-intel pro narrative enforcement goons lump such data in with what they would like to call the anti-vax, conspiritard, antisemitic echo chambers. Unfortunately for the intelligence community, much of the science behind the social media releases can be verified against legitimate research. Consequently when those skeptical of Zionist motives encounter such information, they are predisposed to accept it. It's not difficult to see the reasoning of "They've lied to us before, they'll do it again".

Release of information pertaining to the schism between followers of traditional Rabbinical Judaism and Talmudic Judaism are not frequently found, however they do exist. For the most part, anybody who experiences hostility from any of the many hangers on of Judaism will be labeled as an enemy of all Jews. This is critically important for the success of the more fundamentalist factions identifying as Jews in order to secure their political goals. It's also a source of vulnerability. Any force which meets opposition will be subject to deliberate acts of subversion. An ideological rift between major factions creates a viable and feasible conduit to divide and thus conquer.

As with the other sects of the Abrahamic ~~faith~~ fake system, the infighting between Rabbinical factions is profound. It is after all an integral part of the human condition to wage more enduring wars with your nearest neighbours than with your furthest of enemies. While this is apparently a cornerstone of the human condition, it is not entirely compatible with the goals of an aspirational, beta-plus mentality. Constantly seeking to be perceived as the underdog and therefore more virtuous, is possibly the most over used political tool that factions within that which is known as'The Jews' or in fact anyone else, have ever employed. It is therefore unsurprising that it will probably prove to be the undoing of any factions, groups or splinters that have become dependent on it.

The intelligence gravy train that was the so called SARS-COV-2 pandemic had all the hallmarks of a global psy-op. The number of clandestine goals that were facilitated during the period 2018 to 2022 are frankly inestimable. The following list reflects some of the most malevolent:

1. Culling the oldest
2. Crippling the youngest
3. Subjugating the global population
4. Enforcing central authority narratives
5. Preventing the population from observing the sky
6. Installing surveillance state infrastructure at a granular level

In regards to the first two goals listed above, they represent a method which has historical precedent. This was detailed in the article 'The Legacy of Amun' and is essentially an instrumental part of any major revision event. Those who remember the old ways are killed off and those who are most susceptible to the new ways are indoctrinated. While this is accepted as an effective method, it has always been considered to represent a demonic meddling with the natural way of things. It denies anything approximating democracy, capitalism, free will or self determination. Instead it represents a totalitarian approach to that which is against the wishes of every single human being alive.

The long term efficacy of the numerous revision events that the human race has experienced is highly questionable. Without employing the first two tenets listed above, an over reliance on aggression, force and destruction is inevitable. This in itself creates a major impact in the collective memories of those who are being revised.

The Highland clearances in Scotland live on in the minds of the population as one of the most vile acts ever perpetrated against the Scottish people. This does nothing for the assumed authority of Westminster when it comes to having deliberately erased the traditional communities of the Western Highlands of the United Kingdom. The main point was to eradicate a way of life, however it was done in such a brutal way that it became an enduring source of bitterness and resentment.

We now know that the Roman ~~Empire~~ Franchise sacked Alexandria with the clear motivation of destroying all records of the previous technological paradigm. A paradigm which placed Old Kingdom Egypt or 'Khemet' at the top of an evolutionary process which exceeds our current level in fundamental ways. To make matters worse it is common knowledge that Rome then proceeded to archive much of the information from the Library of Alexandria in the Vatican Archives. Sealed away from the rest of the world, access is only granted according to conditions that mean anyone doing any research is only going to live for another couple of decades ... at the most.

Both of the examples detailed above have been remembered in the human consciousness as attempts to obliterate a previous way of life. There have been literally thousands of others waged against indigenous communities all over the world, since weapons were invented. Most have succeeded in altering value systems and enforcing paradigm changes. However the most violent have often been extremely counter productive. The most successful have invariably been comprised of a distributed methodology which includes part enforcement and part psychological conditioning.

It would be reasonable to associate an indigenous language with the culture and history of a people. Kill off the language and the culture dies with it. This has been used more times in history than can actually be counted. Banning the use of cultural anchors such as language, ritual and creative arts is a systemic and effective approach to social engineering. It has delivered results for Empires throughout the written record. With this data set, it is now possible to also perceive these cultural shifts in the archaeological and even fossil record.

Linguistics are not the only form of language. There are as many inflections and micro expressions associated with a culture as there are unique spoken attributes. Some of the more obvious would be Indians who wobble their head to signify acknowledgment. It's not yes or no, it's simply 'I have received the information'. More universally, when someone raises their eyes to the ceiling or the sky, it invariably denotes disdain or contempt. These are all non verbal methods of communication, some of which are part of a global language.

We now apparently live in a globalist economy. Populations are no longer isolated as a result of inconvenient geography. This represents a problem for the disparity gatekeepers mentioned previously. The lions share of their tool-set has always been the distances between populations. They have profited through fostering division and conflict between these disparate populations. Without this previously sustainable environment of distrust, there is little scope for warmongers, war-hawks, war-scavengers or really much to do with war at all. Such an economic downturn is not an option for the military industrial (congressional) complex. Neither is it acceptable to those who have profited from historical disparity. At certain points these TWO groups intersect. As has been mentioned many times in these pages, where the interests of fundamentalist extremists converge there lies true danger for the human race.

And so, the bastards are at it again. Desperately trying to remold society into something that they can control more easily. They have always feared change while simultaneously attempting to maximize their gains from any changes they either permit or co-opt. Caught in this perverted dichotomy has rendered them (for the most part) completely insane. The most visceral manifestations of this insanity can be seen in the increasingly unbelievable psychological operations of the past century. Whatever the multitude of secret societies have been doing, it has become quite apparently much more difficult for them to pull the wool over the eyes of the global population.

The NWO is simply the most recent and ubiquitous expression of this gatekeeper mindset. Preventing the human race from understanding their past is worth a lot of money. Consequently there are a great many people who have been invested in preserving this disparity, for a very long time.

In order to effectively revise our previous way of life, the previous methods of using state secrecy legislation have had to be surpassed. The efficacy of such legislation is meaningless without a clear deterrent. However thousands of individuals categorically stating that Israeli air force fighter jets openly attacked and sank a US Navy vessel is not something that can be controlled using official secrecy laws. Firstly it's true, secondly there were numerous witnesses so the information was not effectively contained and thirdly, the attempt to explain it all away as a mistake is and always was, paper thin.

Likewise, the numerous half baked perception management stunts that have plagued the mainstream media airwaves have essentially alienated half the global population. Estimates as to the opinions about the so called '911' WTC incident place four billion people firmly in the conspiracy camp. They consider the entire debacle to be an inside job perpetrated against the population of the United States by its own government using foreign assets as scape-goats. The damage done to the credibility of mainstream narratives and central authority couldn't really have been much greater. The knock-on effect was that after public shaming by relatives of the deceased, Henry Kissinger was revealed to be playing both sides of the fence. Subsequently, massive loss of life resulting from convenient disasters had to be scaled down. This limited the NWO to perception management stunts (hoaxes) without the political inconvenience from qualified lobby groups.

It is for reasons such as these that the NWO decided to eradicate the global language of trust. Between the masking of parents and the surge in snitch nation social engineering, trust is increasingly going to be in precious short supply. It was never abundant anyway, but the Covid19 psyop was an attempt to rid humanity of major trust infrastructure. Between the long term psychotic goals of the Rosicrucian #DepopulationAgenda and the virtue signaling NWO goal of global applied schizophrenia, the writing is on the wall:

> Cull the herd and get the best value from the process.

There is an interpretation of the origin of those whom we have come to collectively describe as 'The Jews' that includes migrant workforces being mind controlled by the last of the Old Kingdom Pharaohs. Akhanatens experiment subjects or as they were told to describe themselves; 'Gods chosen people' are effectively Gladio stay behind troops. Sleeper cells who have steadfastedly lived and breathed an ideology for thousands of years. Subconsciously preparing for the day when they are activated to control the communities and societies they have been embedded in. However, it's been so long in the making that they have become fractured. The perception of belonging to a group of Gladios has attracted a whole bunch of agenda driven cut-throats and brigands. How long will it be before the schism between the purists and the interlopers becomes a matter of survival? What will it take for one of the factions to throw the other directly under the rollers of the very large, very angular megalithic slab of global opinion that now threatens to bear down upon them?

It seems that an attempt to biologically impact an entire species while excluding a specific ethno-religous group would probably constitute enough evidence to razz up the UN. However it seems unlikely that the UN will ever table such evidence. In the same way as many specific details of WW2 were classified for a hundred and fifty years, reports have surfaced stating that the details of the Covid19 vaccinations are classified for at least twenty. It would not be unreasonable to state there is a discernable pattern here. The correlation between secrecy, narrative enforcement and passive aggressive methodology is not difficult to identify.
