Brace yourselves for another protracted scandal involving personal pensions being plundered by those promoting their procurement. The dimwitted dipshits of the state backed criminal intelligence world are planning a massive theft from the people. This will be the first of many seemingly unavoidable 'technical outages' that will happen circa 2030.

Currently the pages of MSN news feed (among other providers) are featuring many articles on the subject of inadequate pension provision. The gig economy has been in place for so long that workers in their 50's and 60's are realising that they will not have much more than the state pension to survive on when they retire. The reality is that the state pension is more than state benefits which are supposed to be enough to live on. It isn't actually true, nobody can survive on state benefits alone and are compelled to augment their income in any way possible. The alarmist media are painting a picture of destitution for retirees and relentlessly pushing a narrative focused on paying more into a private pension ASAP.

The UK has seen massive pension fraud before. It has become a bit of a standing joke in the City because so many men in their later years have gone from wearing a suit in Cheapside to wearing prison fatigues in an open prison. More often than not, the City of London constabulary prosecute such men for wide scale financial malfeasance and private pensions seem to be quite a popular medium. This recent nudge theory campaign is most likely an effort to artificially inflate the private pension market and holdings therein. The main motive will be an unprecedented amount of theft immediately preceding a major technology outage incident. Foreign state sponsored hackers will be blamed and Mrs Miggins won't be staying in Acacia Avenue any more. She'll have to sell and move into a sensible one bedroomed council flat on the Lowrent Park estate. Her private pension will have been ransacked by a bunch of fucking arseholes who all live within an hours drive of the M25 and foreign interests will only extend to money laundering. Probably through the Ukraine, if Putin hasn't shut it down by then.

In many ways this represents the identifying traits of a parasitic system consuming itself. There's so much money locked away in industries which are essentially imaginary (like insurance and pensions) that the even more illegitimate industries (like intelligence & the security of intelligence) are now predating upon them. The latter face an unprecedented shift in their entire paradigm. The post 911 truth movement has created such a polemic divide between the cognitively dissonant and the rational, that the vast majority of psyops conducted by the quite insane intelligence community (and the broader, even more insane secret societies) are being called out in real time, if not in advance. The recent and highly theatrically augmented summer 2025 conflict between Israel and Iran included a move by the US to place an aircraft carrier in the Arabian Gulf. Social media erupted with numerous military commentators blowing the whistle in terms of a forthcoming USS Liberty type scenario. Unsurprisingly, said carrier wan't needed and never made it out of the Atlantic.

The recent spate of rage bait on social media was instantly debunked by thousands of conscientious observers. The Ukrainian girl allegedly murdered by a crazed knife wielding Negro on the train in Charlottesville North Carolina, couldn't have been more contrived. The supposed victim clearly suffers zero injuries as clearly seen in the released CCTV footage, then drops under the seats and bursts some form of fake blood pack. In her defence she made quite a good performance out of it in terms of looking upset. But this is who crisis actors are, they are people who are interpreting their surroundings at all times in terms of what their 'role' is supposed to do, not what the right thing to do is. Their behaviour is synonymous with that of a psychopath because the cult they belong to was created by those who can not interpret conventional human behaviour. They do not speak the language of trust because they are congenital psychopaths who do not possess the capacity for compassion or empathy. Furthermore, they all belong to a specific secret society which is aligned with Kaballah and Byzantian occultism which celebrates and reveres the demonic entities known as Baal, Moloch and interpreted by other cultures as Kronos or possibly Cinnamasta. Needless to say this is effectively devil worship. These entities originate from a derangement of Pagan value systems

The artificial creation of psychopaths is what essentially underpins the entirety of the Abrahamic faith system. The mutilation of neonatal infants to proclaim a pact with god couldn't really be more psychopathic, yet it is defended by people who proclaim themselves to be righteous and even godly. To make matters much, much worse, there are those who hide under the protection of the label of Judaism, Islam and Christianity in order to practice their demonic and kabbalistic, deliberate societal necrosis. They are not even the 'conversos' that were targeted by the Spanish inquisition. They do not subscribe to the positive practices of any religious text and are as they were called by a carpenter from Galilee (who just so happened to be the son of a living god and a rededicated virgin) a:

> Synagogue of Satan

The man known as Jesus of Nazareth and so forth clearly called out these people who hide within Judaism in order to practice their so called 'craft'. The Inquisition targeted them and it seems so did the Rothschilds when they secretly puppeteered one of their illegitimate progeny into forming the Nazi party and culling 'the wrong type of Jews'. Exactly how anyone could be qualified to judge who the correct sort of Jews are is unknown, but there is substantial evidence to indicate that WW2 was a major internal ethnic cleansing operation by those who consider themselves as gods. They have amassed more wealth than anyone else ever has and do as they wish with the global populations.

The money is running out. It seems that the intelligence agencies know it, the secret societies caused it and the general public don't care about it. We're all being ushered into another revision event by psychopaths who have stolen all the money. In order to hide this fact, they will unceremoniously depopulate the entire planet and render the survivors as lesser cognitive peoples. They will do all this to prevent their rightful destruction at the hands of those whom they have exploited for thousands of years. They will obtain the best possible value from the process and the disparity will once again, make them as gods.
