The UK and AU have recently clamped down on ID verification for several online channels. Basically this is blowing up as the UK freemason pigs running around hassling people for using VPN's and the AU gov banning under 16's from using social media. Many scream fascism, but what lurks beneath?

Social Engineering Internet Censors Government Police Sex Gender Religion

Antipodean users on social media are kicking off about the fascist bullshit that their government are dropping on them currently. Most are absolutely livid with many uploading visceral video posts slamming the government with all manner of expletives.

Somewhere in all of it is the idea that there may be some actual truth in the notion of online safety for children. Ultimately the USA suffered at the hands of the deep state Biden administration and their relentless drive to promote homosexuality. Thereby attempting to confirm the democrats as the party of choice for anyone even remotely LGBTQ etc. This resulted in the most egregious display of profoundly dysfunctional behaviour by the so called 'diversity community'. This included marching with signs openly stating

> We're here, we're queer and we're coming for your children

> We'll still love our son even if he turns out to be straight

This is 100% bonefide Tavistock mind Kontrol (note the Nazi K). This incentivised the intelligence community and secret societies to use their clandestine and classified hardware to psychologically attack men until they put on a dress, a wig and high heels specifically so they could invade womens restrooms and photograph themselves in front of the mirror.

It doesn't require the social awareness of Deepak Chopra to see where this is headed. The campaign is using a delayed result method in population control. What happened during Covid19 will impact the world most severely in approx fifteen years time. That's when the Covid delayed children will be emerging into the worklplace. It seems unlikely that any of them will pursue further education or any great body of studies.

In addition all the people who were turned gay by the secret societies during 2018-22 will either never have children or there will be a sparse inclusion of lesbians who decide that they will not be denied motherhood. Unfortunately something like this already took place several decades ago. Many women for mind Kontrolled into becoming closet lesbians who either never have sex or have sex as intelligence entrapment with their male partners. Understanding the profound confusion that these people have is impossible. They are victims of the most egregious forms of mind Kontrol that the human population have ever had to endure.

While POW's have been subjected to more acute torture, intelligence agency and secret society targeted individuals (who are civilians of the state targeting them) endure constant harassment and mind Kontrol for decades. Because the infrastructure is titled 'communication' equipment it is not automatically in breach of the Geneva convention. Adapting such hardware for 'less lethal' and 'psychological warfare' purposes is the remit of the government funded, court authorised, military equipped intelligence agencies.

The amount of money that has been dumped into the technological aspects o this frankly horrific and dystopian disaster, is mind boggling. In the words of Donald Rumsfeld:

> According to some estimates we cannot track $2.3 trillion in transactions.

Many pundits and fact checkers have gone to incredible lengths to try and detract from the clear logic of this somewhat foolhardy statement by the former USA secretary of defence. However, after years of fastidious research, TEFLONRABBIT.COM is quite sure that this directly refers to the installations caught on camera by amateur telescope aficionado and avid Moon recorder John Lenard Walson. Please see previous articles on this subject for further details.

Basically the five eyes network is all about mind control and it cost a shit ton of money to set it up. Part of this mind control application has been heavily invested in by secret societies who have one major goal, to cull the human race as profitably as possible to reach the stated 500m population goals of the Georgia Guidestones. Such a goal requires long term monetisation plans and one of those involves competitive mind control activity. The methods of enhanced interrogation seen in movies like 'Hurt Locker' and TV series like '24' include sensory deprivation and overt psychological warfare. One particularly pernicious avenue of psychological warfare is gender proselytization.

As utterly insane as it sounds, there are today (and have been for centuries) people running around doing everything in their power to turn other members of the public into homosexuals. It's a massive part of Freemasonry and even speaks to their main iconography. It was coopted by the military so long ago that it happened literally before the creation of society as we know it. The two so called 'angels' that called down a punishment on the residents of Soddom and Gomorrah were most likely a pair of queer incel military types, in town for a bit of action.

As blasphemous as it sounds, it is the most likely explanation, however it is considered utterly heretical to state it in most circles. Blatantly ignoring such mealy mouthed, wishy washy, namby pamby, mumbo jumbo is exactly what TEFLONRABBIT.COM is all about, so ....

The man who stayed behind to eat dinner and talk with Abraham et al, is touted by many in the clandestine community and religious societies to be whom the Abrahamic Faith community refer to as 'God'. However, it seems unlikely that the creator of all things would choose to hang around with a couple of genocidal psychopaths who murdered at least two entire cities full of men, women and children, then created extensive propaganda to retrospectively justify their actions.

There's nothing in the scriptures which speaks to the creator being of such a cruel nature. While there is a stark warning to the Jews not to take other gods before me or you will feel the wrath ... blah blah blah, there is no part of any organised religion which condones such widespread slaughter. The idea that these cities had lost their way and become a bunch of butt monkeys and blowjob divas, is frankly bullshit. Some of the other cities in the locale were said to have also lost their way in their disregard for the rule of law and not doing what their parents told them do etc.

Many religious people all over the planet including the newly admitted gay devotees do not question this narrative. They simply accept that the old testament god was a bit of a psycho and had no problem with murdering gays. This does not sound like the type of rational intellect that could create a self perpetuating system based on regular events leading to the creation of solar systems, gas giants, asteroid belts and galaxies. Regardless, those of faith accept that this plagues of locust sending, spontaneous blinding, genocidal madman is actually their ultimate deity. It is possible that this part of the analysis is an appropriate milestone of an old adage which is actually quite pertinent:

> The greatest trick the Devil ever played was convincing humanity that he didn't exist.

The colonies of Britain which have gone on to achieve some form of independence are basically a snapshot of where British theosophical thinking was when they broke away and started out for a bold new life in some far away place where everything is really quite different.

The USA was started due to extreme political and theological unrest in Europe consequently it's defined itself as a place where war is incredibly important. they all have firearms and wage war on other countries constantly, for no apparent reason.

Canada was primarily mapped by French trappers, consequently modern Canadians handle profoundly hostile terrain as if it's no big deal. They enjoy the outdoors and think they're better than everyone else because they can handle it.

New Zealand is essentially Britain from the 1950's complete with draconian attitudes from the establishment and disdainful disregard for indigenous peoples.

South Africa is basically fucked and all the dual nationality apartheid loving slave owners had to fuck off back to wherever they came from. Most of the Brits now live in Victoria SW London and their compulsory military national service adds to the incredibly good work done by the hard working men and women of the British Security Services.

Australia on the other hand, are a bunch of renegades who are all descended from either English apartheid loving slave owners, Irish convicts or Scottish plantation managers. There are obviously the indigenous peoples and a few other settler communities but that broadly covers their main demographic. They are notoriously conservative and refuse to allow any more settlers unless they can prove that they are of massive advantage to their economy. Not unlike the immigration policy in Canada, Israel and the UK.

The main difference being that like Canada, they really aren't about to run out of land any time soon. Consequently their hard line on immigration is accepted as being the way things are. This is not the most progressive of mentalities and probably does quite a lot of damage to the psyche of the population. One which is often quite volatile as it is. The government tested this volatility during Covid and came very, very close to a full country wide revolt due to their insanely harsh restrictions and social policies.

What their Prime Minister said today on television was basically, sorry kids - get out there and build a fort, ride your bike, go to the beach and enjoy the holidays instead of sitting indoors with a dozen screens between you and the television. While this sounds typical of a nanny state, conservative government, there is something much, much more sinister going on and it threatens to cripple Australias population twenty years from now.

The landslide of US DEI hiring that went on under successive democrat governments, both local and national created the perfect environment for a runaway ideological hysteria of influencing both children and adults in concepts of gender dysphoria, transgender awareness, homosexuality and transvestism. This peaked under the Biden administration and resulted in numerous flare ups between educators and parents. County and state level laws were passed to prevent school boards from allowing graphic and detailed literature to be included in libraries and approved reading lists.

The onslaught waged on children through the education system is frankly horrific. A school was found to be presenting exercises in trust to the children. They were invited to share a page full of secrets that they didn't want anyone to know. They were told that the information would only be known by them and the teacher. The teachers were clearly instructed to prevent any of the answers from being digitally stored and to commit them to memory instead.

This is flagrant intelligence activity. It's also profoundly unethical and probably highly illegal. The sheer moral barbarism of what these people are doing is only matched by the levels of egregious ideology spouting out of their collective rainbow coloured arseholes. To imagine that any of the classrooms that this happened in did not have a Pride flag emblazoned above the black board would be acting more naively than the infant informants were. They did not suspect a thing when they told teacher about their parents growing plants in the loft, porch pirating, drunk driving, shop lifting and the numerous other ubiquitous civil misdemeanours.

The DEI intelligence defence of this behaviour probably goes along the lines of protecting children to the extent of shielding possible gay and trans kids against discrimination from their parents. The thinking being that young children will often feel attractions to same sex individuals because they haven't matured yet. This according to the Tavistock crew is proof that there are lots of potentially gender diverse children who need help blossoming like beautiful butterflies trapped in the stigmatised cocoon of blah blah blah... Frankly it's bullshit and it's agenda driven bullshit at that.

It's all about depopulation and always has been. It's why Freemasonry promotes homosexuality in the same way that their creators in the Knights Twaddler did several centuries prior. Ultimately there's a highly obvious reason why the gay community are so obsessed with uniforms. But of course nobody talks about it because then they wouldn't get an unexpected discount on their shopping from Aldi, Tescos, Morrisons, Lidl, Sainsburys, K-Mart, Walmart, Amazon and so on. The guilds look after their own after all.

The British government have done something similar but TEFLONRABBIT.COM doesn't really care because the concept of computer network legislation limiting your communication capabilities seems silly somehow and they will have no truck with such fascist bullshit. However, many other people have experienced something similar to the Australian citizenry. Anything to do with the government requires a new ID verification procedure that usually involves taking a selfie. It's the new craze across teh commercial world as well and it's undoubtedly facilitated by some bunch of dodgy bastards like Palantir or DeepMind.

Big data means even more snooping. Eventually the moral limitations on snooping begin to degrade in line with profitability. At some point, the secret societies have their agendas realised and an insidious social engineering principle is applied. Things get worse and soon enough, snooping isn't enough and directing the lives of those whose data you have harvested becomes the logical move to expand business. This sounds like some kind of dystopian futuristic nightmare, but it's actually been happening periodically for millennia. The most recent incident was over two decades ago and we're now living in the fallout.
